MINISTER URIBURU'S STATEMENTS.

The Gold Duty Bill of the new Minister of Finance has created quite a storm in certain quarters where the impending increase in the duties has raised the phantom of further burdens on the masses already groaning under the variegated curses of "curso forzoso". Some newspapers, in their zealous defence of popular interests, quite forget those of the Government and fail to grasp the arguments of the Minister in his speech before Congress. Minister Uriburu showed that the Treasury, by virtue of the Customs Law, was entitled to duties on the full value of merchandise; in other words, up to the present, or at least since "curso forzoso" was decreed, the Government has been collecting duties on goods valued at 1/4, 1/2, or 1/3 of their value, according to the aberrations of the paper currency. The Custom House tariff is more or less the same as in 1884, when paper was at par: that paper has at times fallen to over 65 per cent discount, yet the Government never availed of its right to charge duties on the full value of the taxed merchandise. Such a policy could only hold as long as the revenue of the Custom House sufficed to meet ordinary expenses. To-day, however, there can no longer be room for a continuance of such generosity, since the revenue is falling off at an alarming pace and a heavy deficit is staring the Government in the face.

As Minister Uriburu very truly remarked, the Gold Duty Bill is an imperious necessity for the Treasury, it is a measure of self-defence: "at the present rate of affairs we (the Government) are rushing into bankruptcy." Nothing could be more explicit, and we only wonder that the Minister of Finance has not framed a bill enforcing duties on the full value of all taxed goods; that is to say that an article taxed to-day at the old valuation of $100 should be rated at its real value, that is to say the gold value, or $240. Such a sweeping measure, however, might have produced terrible confusion and created much discontent, but it could never have been deemed arbitrary or illegal, since it is within the Customs' Law. The Minister confessed that he availed of his right only to the extent of 50 o/o, and that only as a last resource arising from inexorable necessity.

The Government must reconcile itself to the stern fact that hard cash is a "sine qua non" condition of existence, notwithstanding scores, hundreds, or thousands of fanciful millions on paper. The public are now in a position to gauge the intrinsic value of the millions of gold and paper deposited for account of the disappointed Treasury in the State Banks. The Minister has manfully torn aside a corner of the veil of subterfuges that mystified the public with a dazzling array of millions that are no longer available. The fanciful fabric of affluence in the Treasury he has dashed to the ground by telling the country the plain, unvarnished truth—that the Government has no money, that gold duties and foreign loans are an imperious necessity, and that the severest economy is now inseparable from our financial existence. The whole market applauds such bold statements; they embody the truth, and nothing but the truth.

We applaud the Minister to the echo for his frankness. We applaud him still more for his emphatic statements that such resources as those arising from gold duties, or the gold proceeds of loans are not remedies to remove a crisis. Such measures, he candidly emphasises, are similar to those a man takes immediately to save his house from fire. It is a case of sinking or floating—in the former case, if we continue as at present; in the latter, if we secure gold from duties and loans. While we manage to float we may devise the means of swimming to the port of refuge—specie payments. The crisis, according to Minister Uriburu, arises from many causes in which the errors of the public and of the Government are factors in the present instance; for the cure of such an evil an exhaustive study must be made of the causes and then a plan adopted to check all these causes. Meantime, to meet the emergencies of the situation, the Government must resort to gold duties and other resources to face the immediate requirements of governing. Later on we shall hear from the Minister his plan to shunt the financial ship of state into a normal groove and on the high road to specie payments; meantime, he has insinuated that such a course can only be adopted at the expense of great sacrifices on the part of the people and of the Government. Perhaps the wish is father to the thought, but we gather from his speech that we are on the eve of a thorough banking reform in which all private interests will be sacrificed, if necessary, to guarantee general interests. He also emphasized his determination to cut down expenditure with a vengeance to the last cent: he dwelt at length on the necessity of strict economy, sterling honesty, and great energy in government. In the light of the past those who run can read. We for one believe that we are on the eve of very radical reforms in finances and administration in general. We think that the era of abuse that crept in with an epoch of sham prosperity is at an end, and that a sharp pruning knife will be applied to all excrescences of the situation, for the Minister said in guarded terms that he would lay before the country a picture of the true state of affairs and a plan to remove or mitigate the effects of the crisis.

It would be idle to conceal the excellent effect that the ministerial speech has produced: much more was expected in the shape of bills and remedies, but the bold frankness of the Minister was a pleasant surprise to all. He has gained one immense advantage—the confidence of the market, and with that victory he can overcome all difficulties. Let him follow up that victory with a true statement of the amount of paper in circulation, of the clandestine issues, of the status of the banks in general, some in particular, and of the indebtedness of these banks and certain Provincial Governments to the National Bank and the National Treasury. Meantime, the whole country looks forward to the new Minister with the hope that he will master the situation and overcome the crisis by manfully eradicating the abuses that led to it.

AN INTERNATIONAL BANK.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BANKING TO THE PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

PROPOSING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A BANK UNDER A UNITED STATES CHARTER, WITH BRANCHES IN THE COUNTRIES REPRESENTED AT THE CONFERENCE—THE MANY ARGUMENTS FOR SUCH AN INSTITUTION.

Washington, April 10th—Pursuant to a resolution passed at the meeting of the International American Conference on December 7, 1889, a committee consisting J. M. Hurtado, representing the United States of Colombia; Charles R. Flint, for the United States, Manuel Aragon, for Costa Rica, and Salvador de Mendoca, for Brazil, was appointed to consider and report upon the methods of improving and extending the banking and credit systems between the several countries represented at the conference. It has submitted as the results of its deliberations the following report:—

Your committee believes that there is no field of inquiry falling within the province of this Conference for the extension of Inter-American commerce more fundamentally important than that of International American banking, and that in fact the future of the commercial relations between North, South and Central America will depend as largely upon the complete and prompt development of international banking facilities as upon any other condition whatever.

In the opinion of your committee, the question of the mechanism of exchange is secondary, if at all, only to the question of the mechanism of transportation. Even after better means of transportation than those which exist shall have been established, it will be impossible for the commerce between American Nations to be greatly enlarged unless there be supplied to their merchants means for conducting the banking business which shall in some measure liberate them from the practical monopoly of credit which is now held by the bankers of London and the European Continent. If there be an enlargement of the means of transportation unaccompanied with an equal extension of financial facilities, only partial benefits will be derived from the former as compared with the benefits which might be derived were the two improvements to progress together.

Your committee is of the opinion that the commerce between the American countries might be greatly extended if proper means could be found for facilitating direct exchanges among the money markets of the several countries represented in this Conference, even if there were no improvement in transportation. The first effect would be to afford a more direct "clearance-in-account" of goods exported against goods imported. The large amount of commissions now paid to the European bankers could not only be decreased, but such commissions would be paid to American bankers or merchants themselves, and in this way a share of the profits which now go almost solidly to the European money markets could be kept in the financial centres of this Continent.

THE QUESTION OF LONG CREDITS.

There does not exist to-day among the countries represented in this Conference any organized system of bankers' exchanges or credits; for instance, drafts upon the United States are not obtainable at all in many of the markets of South America, and in most of them are only saleable at a discount below the sterling equivalent. In like manner drafts upon South and Central America are practically unknown in the money markets of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Chicago and Boston.

The point has been made that to extend business between our States long credits must be given. How is it possible for manufacturers and merchants at distant points to form relations of such a character as to justify the granting of long credits? At present such relations are chiefly formed through the intervention of European banks and bankers which are not interested in the extension of trade between the different countries represented in this Conference except in a secondary and subordinate sense. The extension of trade between Europe and the Americas, not between the Americas themselves, is their first care. By the establishment of a well-organized system of international American banking our merchants and manufacturers would be able to establish improved credit relations, and those administering the system in the several money markets of the Americas would immediately become interested in fostering such relations and facilitating such business to the utmost extent.

The merchants of the United States now importing goods from the countries of South and Central America make such importations, as the investigations of your committee show, almost without exception, through the use of English bankers' credits. The total foreign commerce of the West Indies, Mexico, South and Central America amounted last year to $1,085,545,000 United States gold. The committee have not been able to ascertain the amount of the commerce among the Latin American States. The total exchange of commodities between the United States and countries to the south during the year ending June 30, 1888, aggregated $282,902 408, of which the imports into the United States amounted to $181,058,966 of merchandise and $21,236,791 of specie and bullion, and exports from the United States $71,938,181 of merchandise and $8,668,470 of specie and bullion. Of the $181,000,000 of merchandise brought into the markets of the United States the greater part was paid for by remittances to London or the Continent, to cover drafts drawn in the exporting markets against European letters of credit.

ADVANTAGES OF AN INTERNATIONAL BANK.

Your committee believes that the best means for facilitating the development of banking business, and, generally, of financial relations between the markets of North, South and Central America, as well as for improving the mechanism of exchange without calling on any Government whatever to exceed its proper functions, would be the passage of a law by the United States incorporating an International American Bank, with ample capital, with the privilege on the part of the citizens of the several countries in the Conference to take shares in such bank pro rata to their foreign commerce; which bank should have no power to emit circulating bank notes, but which should have all other powers now enjoyed by the national banks of the United States as to deposit and discount, as well as all such powers as are now possessed by firms of private bankers in the matter of issuing letters of credit, and making loans upon all classes of commodity, buying and selling bills of exchange, coins, bullion; and with power to indorse or guarantee against proper security and generally to do whatever can already be done by the great banking firms who are carrying on their business without the aid of corporate charters under the laws of a general partnership. Your committee believe upon well-founded information that the capital to such a bank would be promptly subscribed.

The United States Government might, and should reserve the largest visitorial powers. The business of such bank could be conducted with perfect safety, and with profit to its shareholders, and the greatest benefit to our international commerce. Branches or agencies of such a bank could be established in all of the principal financial centres of America, with the formal recognition of the Governments of the several States in which such agencies are established, or arrangements might be entered into with existing banking institutions of the other countries for transacting the business; thus at once affording markets throughout the two continents for the purchase and sale of bills of exchange, facilitating and improving credit conditions generally, and perfecting a complete mechanism of exchange such as already exists between our respective countries and the European money markets, but which has, as yet, no existence between the money markets of North, South and Central America, for the reason already stated.

One of the direct benefits to be derived by all of the Governments represented in the International American Conference from the establishment of such a bank would be, that the investors in the several countries in different classes of American securities would have better means than any which now exist for making such investments. For example, a South or Central American State about to float a foreign loan would feel itself less dependent upon a single combination or syndicate of European bankers than at present. There would be open to such borrowing State two markets to which to apply for National loans, as against a single market to the mercy of which said borrowing Government is now virtually exposed. The same holds good as to all classes of State and municipal securities whatever. Latin American investors would find means more readily at command for the investment in and investigation of all classes of North American securities, and the investors of the United States would also find means for the investigation of and investment in all classes of securities issued by the States, municipalites or corporations of Latin America.

INCREASING WEALTH OF THE AMERICAS.

Your committee recognizes the fact that London has, for many years, derived the largest possible benefits through its banking facilities with our several States, in taking all classes of American loans which have generally proved themselves to be of a most stable and desirable character, but nevertheless upon terms which have yielded the London bankers abnormally large profits, simply because the element of competition does not exist by reason of the absence of proper banking relations between the several American countries. The institution of such a bank as proposed would at once afford relief against this state of affairs, and would be of benefit, not only to the merchants in the manner described, but to all classes of investors generally, and without distinction.

In recommending the organization of an International American Bank, the recommendation is based upon the present condition of trade. The establishment of better means of transportation and the promotion of trade in other ways will enlarge the demand for the class of facilities of a banking character which has already been referred to. The rapidly increasing wealth of North and South America also enhances the need of a complete system of International American exchange, and insures the subscriptions for an adequate capitalization of an International Bank to meet such needs. As an evidence of this increase, the valuation of property in the United States in 1870 was estimated at $36,000,000,000; in 1880, $43,600,000,000, being somewhat larger than the estimated value of the property of Great Britain at that time. The capital and business of the Americas is now much larger than when European facilities for banking between Europe and the Americas were established.

Banks of the character described, having agencies in the financial countries here represented, would materially promote the establishment and use of a common standard for calculating values whenever such a standard shall be determined upon by the countries interested.

While the sentiments of the independent nations of this Continent are favorable to the settlement of all disputes by arbitration, as expressed by resolutions introduced in this Conference, thus rendering war highly improbable, if not impossible, among them, there exists no such guarantee that war may not take place in Europe. In such event, as long as we remain solely dependent for our financial facilities upon European money centres, a complete demoralization of our credit facilities and our money markets would necessarily follow and cause financial disaster and distress which would be considerably lessened if not altogether avoided, were there a well-organized system of Inter-American exchange.

A PRIVATE BANK WILL NOT DO.

It may be asked why cannot the object sought for in this memorial be attained through the agency of a private bank. The answer is that in the extension of our trade in South and Central America, it would be difficult, we might well say impossible, to impart either prestige or credit to a private bank. The establishment of an International Bank by authority of Congress would promptly command from the other American Governments concurrent legislation which would provide the amplest and most trustworthy form of international co-operation. As neither the bank in the United States nor the branches that may be established elsewhere can have the power to issue circulating notes, the most complete evidence is afforded in that fact that the bank is to be devoted solely to the commercial interests of the two continents and must rely for its profits upon the increase of the volume of business from which alone it can secure its profits.

In view of all the facts hereinbefore set forth, your committee recommends to the Governments here represented the granting of concessions for international banking, and especially recommends the establishment of an International American Bank to be organised under a United States National charter, with branches or agencies in the several represented countries, and as incident thereto, suggests to the delegates of the the United States, the desirability of submitting this report to the President of the United States, with a view that, should he deem it proper, he may recommend to the Congress of the United States the enactment of a charter for an International American Bank, for the benefit and enlargement of the commerce of the Americans.

Our Mails.

2 DAYS LATER.

London, Saturday 26th ult.

The consecration of the Rev. Edward Noel Hodges, D.D., as Bishop of Travancore and Cochin, and that of the Rev. Alfred Robert Tucker as Bishop of Equatorial Africa, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, took place at Lambeth Parish Church yesterday. Bishop Tucker left England last evening for the scene of his labours.

The strike of guards, signalmen, and porters on the Great Southern and Western Railway in Ireland extended yesterday to Dublin and other centres. Traffic was everywhere greatly impeded, and in some places entirely stopped.

The coroner's inquest on the victims of the Morfa Colliery Disaster concluded yesterday. The jury found that the explosion was caused by the firing of a shot, and that no blame attached to any one.

Mr. Sala's action against Mr. Harry Furniss for slander was heard in the Queen's Bench Division yesterday. The jury awarded £5 damages to the plaintiff.

In the case in which the proprietors of the City Press sued Mr. Herbert Gladstone and others to recover £348 for stationary, &c., supplied to the Irish Exhibition at Olympia, the jury yesterday returned a verdict for the plaintiff. Mr. Justice Mathew declined to enter judgment, leaving the parties to apply to a Divisional Court.

At Sandown Park yesterday, Sainfoin won the Eshur Stakes and Lady Clare the Walton Two-Year-Old Race. Racing also took place at Portefract.

There was increased activity on the Stock Exchange yesterday, American and Canadian Railroad Stocks being buoyant. The Bank received £144,000 in gold from South America.

Berlin, Friday.—A contradiction is given to the report published by several newspapers that the king of the Belgians would pay a visit to this city at the end of next month.

The Universal Horticultural Exhibition was opened in the Exhibition Park here, at noon to-day, by Dr. Lucius, Minister of Agriculture, in presence of the Empress, Prince Leopold, General von Caprivi, and several ministers. Dr. Lucius delivered an address appropriate to the occasion, at the close of which he called for a cheer for the Empress. Her Majesty was subsequently conducted over the Exhibition, and repeatedly expressed great satisfaction at the various arrangements.

Chemnitz, Friday.—Herr Schippel, Socialist member of the Reichstag, has been sentenced by the Provincial Tribunal here to nine months' imprisonment for circulating false reports with the object of discrediting the action of the authorities.

Vienna, Friday.—The report published by several foreign newspapers that the Emperor Francis Joseph would visit the German Emperor in Berlin at the beginning of next month is not confirmed in well informed quarters here.

Rome, Friday.—During the last few days, Signor Crispi has several times summoned meetings of the Cabinet at which the question of what economies it is possible to make in the Budget has been under consideration. The Ministers are already agreed as to the means of effecting retrenchments, amounting to from fifteen to twenty million lire, the greater portion by reductions in the expenditure on account of the Army and Navy. The estimated deficit for the next financial year amounted at most to 35,000,000 lire, and it is confidently hoped that this will be covered before the question comes up for discussion in the Chamber.

IN PROGRESSIVE ARGENTINA.

FORTUNES HAVE BEEN MADE THERE DURING THE PAST TEN YEARS, AND THERE ARE MANY CHANCES FOR MAKING OTHERS—CAPITAL, ENTERPRISE, PLUCK NEEDED.

(From Export and Finance.)

The development of the Argentine Republic within the last ten years has been a source of pride to its people and of wonder to those who are interested in and cognizant of the rapid strides which it has made in the path of modern progress. Mr. Simon Cassenberg, a banker of San Francisco, who is connected with several of the largest business enterprises in Buenos Ayres, was at the Metropolitan Hotel in this city this week and gave a representative of Export and Finance some details about the condition of affairs in the Republic.

"The Argentine Republic," said he, "is still in its infancy. Great as has been its progress during the last ten years, it will be far greater and still more important during the decade upon which we have just entered. Ten years ago the government endeavoured to point out to foreign capitalists the inducement which nature was offering to wheat-growers and the general reply was that the climatic conditions, one year with another, would render it impossible for the promises and predictions of the Argentine authorities to be realized. At that time the Argentine Republic imported about ten million dollars' worth of wheat per annum. Now it exports double that amount of the same cereal. I know of one instance where the Argentine Government offered to an English capitalist a tract of land on the hills of Olavarria at a merely nominal sum for the purpose of testing the wheat growing qualities of that section of the country, and the Minister of Agriculture gave the Government's assurance that the land so offered was quite equal to the choicest wheat fields of California. The Englishman declined the proposition, and an enterprising Italian came along soon afterwards, rented the land from the Government for a long term of years for two thousand dollars a year, raised a rich crop on a portion of it, and at the present day sub-rents half the tract for eighteen thousand dollars per year, and has leagues enough left out of which to make a fortune.

"Enormous tracts of land," he continued, "equally fertile with those to which I have referred, still remain untouched in the republic, but future years will see them white with ripening harvests. The new comer who enters the republic to-day need not sigh because he was not there ten years ago to take part in its development and gain a share of its present prosperity, for the future is freighted with opportunities for enterprise and labor, and the developments to come will so cover the past that it will almost be forgotten. For instance, coal is now imported in large quantities into the Republic from Europe, but the opening of mines in the country will soon furnish us with all the coal we want at home. The United States sends us petroleum, but we have discovered wells of our own, so that soon we shall not need to buy our light from the Pennsylvania oil fields. The Argentines still import butter and cheese, but it will not be many years before they will be sending fleets laden with dairy produce both to other parts of America and Europe. They still buy bacon and lard from abroad, but the future will see them sending cargo after cargo away. Where now cattle roam over miles and miles of country, in ten years there will be hundreds of ploughs and reapers at work and the land will be made to produce ten times as much in absolute money than can be made now in pasturing cattle.

There is no direction," Mr. Cassenberg resumed, "in which advancement has been made during the last ten years in the Argentine Republic that the new decade will not see greatly exceeded. There is only one cause for regretful comparison with the past, and that is the fact that every year it requires more capital to move a given enterprise in the Republic, and herein lies the chance that is offered to the manufacturers, exporters and bankers in the United States. They should reach out for the magnificent trade that is offered them in the Argentine Republic They will need capital to win it, but they have the capital and ought to use it. The people of the country are exceedingly well disposed towards the United States. The system of business pursued by merchants here is in many respects more pleasing to the Argentine commercial men than the antiquated notions on business held by the old German and English houses which have for so many years held within their grasp the commercial interests of the republic. There is a certain sense of rivalry between the people of the Argentine Republic and the United States which will be conducive not only to the good feeling between the two nations, but will be sure later on to make the commercial relations between the two countries more cordial and intimate. The Argentines consider themselves the most progressive of the South American countries, and with very good reason, and they feel that they are making such a grand march towards power, wealth and commercial supremacy, that in ten years more they will show no inconsiderable rivalship with our own great republic.

"There are fortunes yet to be made," added Mr. Cassenberg, "in the purchase of undeveloped lands in the Argentine Republic, but of course the capital required to secure and operate them is much greater than was necessary 10 years ago, but less now than will be the case in 10 years to come. In a general sense it may be said, for the benefit of our American capitalists that the man who stakes his money on the advancement of the Argentine Republic is sure to win, for in this decade that country will outstrip any of its American neighbors."

What's this we hear about a new Palais de Justice, with $12,000 preliminary expenses for plans which the Board of Works say are no plans at all? Is this the kind of economy that is to cure the crisis.

Railway Items.

The question between the Argentine Great Western and North West Argentine in regard to a bridge proposed by the latter across the rails of the former at Villa Mercedes, has been settled. The span of the bridge is to be 30 metres. Such, at least, is the decision of the Inspector-General.

The N. R. Board have of late been looking over the accounts of the Andine Railway and discovered a remarkable falling off in the net earnings of the line. This was due to the increased working-expends. The following is a table of returns from August to December, 1889:—

Month.	Returns.	Expenses.	Net.
Aug.	68,857	57,662	11,191
Sept.	73,873	70,934	2,937

Now in the seven preceding months according to the figures supplied by the lessees the returns were $433,116, and the expenses $292,130. This leaves a net earning of $140,986, say $20,000 per month. When we compare this net earning with the net earning in the last five months, which averaged 8,400 dols. per month, we are struck with the remarkable falling off. The monthly expenses in the first seven months amounted to 41,732, dols. and in last five to 78,829 dols. We learn that in view of this discrepancy the books of the lessees are to be overhauled.

The Inspector-General has approved the plans presented by the Central Argentine Railway for the branches from San Fernando to Pergamino and Rosario to Pergamino.

Telegrams from Rosario state that Messrs. Hume, who hold the concession of the railway from that city to Cordoba, intend building a tunnel one mile in length through Calles B. Aires, Comercio and Boulevard Rosario to the bank of the river, a little above the Oeste Santa Fecino Station. It is also said that Messrs. Hume will shortly lay before Congress a project for the construction of a terminus in that city.

Mr. H. G. Anderson, who represents the purchasers of the Western Railway, refuses to pay the stamp required to legalise the contract. This stamp would cost the fine bite of 300,000 dollars, but as the purchasers enjoy an immunity from taxation for 20 years, he refuses to pay it. The question is to be decided by arbitrators We presume the railway will be handed over to the purchasers next week.

Government, acceding to a petition, has authorized the contractors of the Santa Rosa and Salta Railway to build a station at kil. 35 (Campo Santo.)

A decree has been issued authorizing the Northern Railway to open the new track from Olivos to San Isidro.

The following items are from the Rio News of 12th inst. received yesterday:—

The April traffic receipts of the Leopoldina company were 355,005$400, of which 94,513$560 from passengers and 243,086$800 from goods.

The Diario da Manha, of Santos, hears that an English syndicate proposes to buy the Italian line for 8,750,000 dols. The aforesaid syndicate, if this is true, will have a little experience to charge up against the investment.

The decree granting an interest guarantee for 3 years, 6 per cent. per annum, on a maximum of $30,000 per kilometre, for the railway from Itu to Ignape, S. Paulo, is dated on April 26th and is published in the Diario Official of the 11th inst.

The local Directors of the North Eastern Railway have notified the Minister of the Interior that the section between Monte Caseros and Curzu Cuatia has been finished and demand that they be allowed to open it to traffic.

THE POLITEAMA.

LE JEU DE L'AMOUR ET DU HASARD—LES SONNETTES.

For delicacy of style and action Marivaux's Le Jeu de l'Amour et du Hasard is certainly a masterpiece, and we must confess that it was rendered at the Politeama in a manner that would have charmed a Parisian audience. Could anything be more admirable than M. Coquelin's acting in his master's disguise, the lacquey leaking out through every pore with an art that only the great French actor could command. He was simply superb in the scene where Dorante, his actual master, but feigned valet, administers the well-deserved kick for the too zealous manner in which he plays his assumed part. The play of countenance alone is a study, for he manages to change countenance half a dozen times in as many seconds. Then again the inflections of his voice as he confronts his disguised master with the disguised daughter of the house with all the sneering vulgarity of the lacquey and parvenu were unique. His love scene with Madame Judic, the pseudo heiress, was as dramatic and as comical as might be expected from his exceptional powers; the gallimatias of his amatory eloquence found a perfect counterpart in his acting and final swooning into the arms of the one whose hand he claimed. We have seen Coquelin in many roles and in every fresh impersonation he shows us some new light of his genius; but in the immense variety of characters he asserts himself as Coquelin in all, for he dwarfs the conception of the very authors with the supremacy of his own individuality before the public.

Of the other characters in Marivaux's comedy, Mmes. Judic and Barety are the foremost. The former had a relatively insignificant part, but the latter had to go through a great strain in three acts. Mlle. Barety has won fresh laurels by the admirable delicacy of her acting in the "Jeu d'Amour". She had a most difficult role and showed no signs of exhaustion to the very end. The tact with which she played her assumed part in the garb of servant of the house, especially in the climax when she discovers the disguise of Dorante, won her well-merited applause. This charming artiste is becoming daily more popular. The other characters, especially that of Dorante, were well rendered.

The comic piece, that followed Marivaux's comedy, was, as might be expected from the pens of Meilhac and Halevey, side-splitting. "Les Sonnettes," as a farcical comedy, pleased the audience wonderfully. We may say that it was viewed more favourably than Marivaux's comedy: strange aberration of taste. Vulgarity in the place of delicacy, farce in the place of wit,—yet this kind of thing is more pleasing to the public. Mme Judic, no doubt, was simply perfect as the waspish yet loving wife; and no words can sufficiently praise the natural verve and humour of M. Huguenet: in fact we enjoyed both immensely and laughed till we wept and held on to the sides of the stalls for support: yet we enter a protest against the depraved taste that failed to see the beauties of "Le Jeu de l'Amour." The popular manager of the theatre, M. De Glaser, may glean from the enthusiasm with which "Les Sonnettes" was applauded what style of comedy is the fancy of the public. We feel sure that if he had announced "Le Fiacre No. 117" instead of Marivaux's comedy there would have been a packed house. The fact stands: each can draw his conclusions

The Coquelin Company announce L'Ami Fritz for Saturday. A special rehearsal for the benefit of the press will be held this evening. The piece is an admirable one and will draw for some time. L'Ami Fritz has a great European reputation and will be given here for the first time on Saturday. M. Coquelin will take leading role. All who have read Erckmann Chatrian can never forget the Ami Fritz and if they wish to see him in flesh they can at the Politeama.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

To-morrow (Saturday) being the anniversary of the birth of H.M. the Queen, we are requested to state that Consul Bridgett will be at home from one to three p.m. to all British residents at 746 Calle General Lavalle. This is the only invitation.

Mr. Aspinall, who represents the South American Anglican mission in Tierra del Fuego, leaves next month for Ooshovia. We beg to call the attention of all who take an interest in that mission to the fact that the Indians in that quarter are sadly in want of clothing and other necessaries and little comforts of life, and any contributions in the shape of old clothes, old samples, old wall paper, etc., will be a boon to the poor people of these latitudes. The English people of Valparaiso were most generous in this respect and enabled Mr. Aspinall to take down quite a cargo of servicable goods. We do not doubt that our charitable countrymen in the Plate will not be slow to follow the noble example set by our Transandine neighbors, and will supply Mr. Aspinall in the same generous manner. All contributions can be sent under Mr. Aspinall's name to the residence of the Bishop of the Falklands, in Calle Parana 1221.

The Senate met yesterday, but no business of importance was transacted. At 5 p.m. the House held a second session over a special message of the Executive.

The rumpus in Brazil announced yesterday is neither monarchial nor republican, but directed against the Free Banks which Government lately decreed, Rio Grande was the first to protest, and now Bahia and Pernambuco have followed suit. The Brazilians are no fools; they see the blue ruin that Free Banks have wrought here; poor Argentina has plucked the chesnuts out of the fire for them, and they will have no F.B's. at any price. Well it would have been for the people of this country if they had stamped on the Free Banks from the first like their Brazilian "hermanos."

We thank Messrs. Mackern and Shine for sending us late English papers.

A caucus of all the notables of the Republic of all parties, to name a candidate for the Presidency is the latest fad in political circles. Anything for a change on the present system of election. Chile has tried it.

Favorita to-morrow, Othello on Sunday and Gioconda on Monday is the May fete programme at the Opera House.

The Municipio of Rosario makes truly tremendous revelations about the way in which the Drainage Works there were sanctioned. This year of grace is a year of revelations, and not over-pleasant ones for this country.

The latest joke from doctoral Cordoba is that the Government is thinking of a new foreign loan. Don't they wish they may get it?

Whew! We had no idea that our repeated warnings to Ferrari and Cicchi not to risk an Italian opera company here in this year of crisis would prove true so very early in the season. The Censor published a very interesting calculation yesterday showing that at the very lowest calculation the loss at the close of the season must be a couple of hundred thousand dollars, although all the artists have agreed to be paid in gold at 100 instead of 140 premium. The receipts of the first opera (Otello) were only 14,000 nats., of which Tamagno took 5,200 and Maurel the same. This left almost nothing for the other singers and general expenses. If this goes on, the 'temporada' will come to a sudden stop, unless the empresarios mean to face the loss referred to, which can hardly be expected.

We have received from the Red Star Agency late English papers up to 20th of April.

We understand that the Hurlingham Club are organizing another pony race meeting for that glorious date the 9th of July, at which several new and valuable animals will make their debut. The programme will be issued in a few days. Those owners who mean to win should keep their ponies in training.

More funny geography. "The Buenos Ayres STANDARD, Buenos Ayres, United States of America" was the address on a London commercial circular about linseed and manseed and pigeseed which we received yesterday. No wonder that the Germans, who are such good geographers and linguists, are running English merchants so hard all over the earth, when the latter have such hazy notions as to the places they are trading with. We receive communications such as that in question almost by every mail.

So the fair sex have brought Stanley the Great on his marrowbones at last, as they invariably do with all men who are worth their salt. Only a few months ago Stan

The following is the latest movements of the Houston Line boats :—

The Chichester has left Liverpool with a general cargo for Buenos Ayres ; Hildegard do do do for Buenos Ayres and Bahia Blanca ; Athabasca do do do ; Hesperides do do for Buenos Ayres ; Incemore do do for Buenos Ayres ; Craighton do do for Buenos Ayres.

The Alderley of the same firm, now discharging in the Outer Roads, goes to Bahia Blanca to load cereals ; the Hellenes do. sails with part cargo for Campana and Rosario, filling up for the homeward voyage with frozen mutton and cereals.

Another Houston boat, the Hydarnes, Capt. Taylor, at present discharging railway material at the Great Southern Railway Wharf, will leave this port on June 2nd for Liverpool direct. She has accommodation for first-class passengers, and carries a stewardess.

Mr. D. C. Anderson, already well-known in the market as representative of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was welcomed to-day on his return in the steamer Thames.

The 200,000 sovereigns for the National Bank were landed to-day from the Thames and taken to the bank.

At the second hour little or nothing was done, business both in gold and stocks being almost at a standstill. The tendency, however, as in the morning, was stiff in gold and weakish for stocks, which shews how the current is shaping. Gold quotations opened for to-morrow at 243, ran up to 244.50, and left off at 244 firm ; this being also the rate for Saturday and end of month. National Bank Shares sank to 143, Catalinas to 39.20 and Constructors to 39. Cedulas remain stiff as a rock, both National and Provincial, and the rise of National E to par called much attention.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring :—

Government to day approved the surveys made by Messrs Aubone and Virasoro in Yerua Colony. Advices from the Chaco could not be more satisfactory. The colonies are progressing very favorably. Lands are being daily purchased in Colonia Popular ; over five thousand families have secured land in this settlement. The purchasers, strange to say, are old settlers from Santa Fé and other provinces. The French and Dutch settlers in Arocena Colony are thriving well now. Perhaps the most considerable progress of all is in the Las Palmas Colony, which belongs to Messrs Hardy Bros. The area under sugar-cane has actually been doubled, and a railway is being built to the bank of the Paraguay. In Vecha Colony, an oil-factory has been started. The Sociedad Colonizadora Nacional have founded a settlement at Santa Amalia.

In exchange there is no alteration in the rates and always a scarcity of takers.

The steamer Maskelyne cleared to-day with the following list of passengers :—Mr and Mrs A Boote, Master Boote and nurse, Mrs, Miss and Miss E Palmer, Mrs D Attwell and child, Miss B Marquez, Dr and Mrs Villaraga and three children, Mr S Castro, Mr F Bardey, Mrs Gridland and 37 third-class. She took also a large consignment of Cedulas and £12,000 in specie, part for Brazil.

The sum of 1,450,000 dollars in new notes was received from Messrs Wilkinson Bradbury & Co. to-day.

The Custom House receipts to-day were 458,000 dollars.

The Minister of the Interior intends to stick to his order that all river steamers must enter the Darsena del Sud or the Riachuelo.

In a conference which took place to-day between the Minister of the Interior and Dr. Bustamente, it was resolved to annul the contract between Sr. Bergallo for the completion of the Riachuelo Works.

We extract from the Report of the London and Brazilian Bank Ld. presented at the general meeting of shareholders held on April 18th the following items, being compelled to hold over the balance-sheet for our next issue:— The directors have the pleasure at this, their Nineteenth Annual Ordinary General Meeting, to present to the shareholders the annexed statement of accounts for the year ending the 31st January last. These accounts have been audited, and show an available balance of £132,255 5s. 5d. (including £12,690 6s 3d. brought forward from last year.) An interim dividend of 8s. per share, amounting to £25,0°0, was paid in October last. The directors now recommend a further payment of 8s. per share, being a dividend at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, free of income tax. The directors also recommend the payment of a Bonus of 8s. per share, thus making a total distribution of 12 per cent per annum, free of income tax, on the paid-up capital of the bank. These payments will absorb £75,000, leaving a balance of £57,255 5s. 5d., which the directors recommend should be appropriated as follows :—£40,000 to be transferred to the reserve fund, making the amount thereof £400,000, and £17,255 5s. 5d. to credit of profit and loss account. The directors report that an agency of the bank has been opened at B. Ayres under the management of Mr Ad. Alphus Frank Ennor, recently acting manager of the Santos and S Paulo Branches. The chairman, in the course of his remarks at the meeting, said: The directors had established an agency in Buenos Ayres, where matters were not very happy now; but they had taken this step after a great deal of consideration, and from the simple fact that their increasing business with that city made it very desirable that our interests should be carried on by their own people. The board has entrusted that agency to Mr Ennor, in whose prudence and sagacity they had the utmost confidence, believing that he would carry out his special instructions with caution.

The steamer Duchessa di Genova clears for same ports on 24th inst.

The Hannover, German packet, clears for Rio and Antwerp on 24th inst.

The Sorata, Pacific packet, will clear from Montevideo for Liverpool on the 25th inst.

The Galicia, Pacific packet, will clear from Montevideo for the West Coast on the 26th inst.

The "Gordon" Cooking Stove is an exceedingly useful and convenient stove, and for its size, the most powerful in the market. It is fitted with one 6 inch burner (moveable for re-wicking which runs along the back of the stove below the oven. A small joint and pastry can be well baked, at the same time two kinds of vegetables or pudding can be cooked on the top, and the kettle kept simmering on the hot plate which extends over the side of stove. There is a small door at the side for lighting which does away with the inconvenience of drawing out the oil tank. A two quart kettle, two quart saucepan, steamer, frypan, and baking dish are sent out with each stove.—George A. Nye, 109 Artes, entre Lavalle y Tucuman. 616 22 29

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

This company is prepared to supply the Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machines, with their accessories, in any quantities. They are now coming into general use in Australia, where, during the past season upwards of 7,000,000 of sheep have been shorn by them ; and it is confidently expected that over 20,000,000 will be shorn by them in that country this year. The following are some of their proved advantages over the ordinary shears :—

Estimated at per sheep per clip.

(1) Increase is quantity and value of wool (See testimonials)....	1½d.
(2) Increased value of pelts owing to total absence of cuts	1
(3) Saving of 1 per cent, usual allowance for deaths resulting from cuts and abs	2½
(4) Saving of labor and time, as the work can be performed in half the time usually occupied with the old style of shearing	1½
Total per clip per sheep.....	16d.
(5) Total absence of suffering to the sheep.

These economies add enormously to the income of the Australian wool-growers, and are applicable relatively to sheep-farmers everywhere.

The Wolseley machines may be seen in actual work at the Agricultural Rural Exhibition at Palermo.

For further particulars apply to the agents, Messrs. Agar, Cross & Co., Calle Defensa 121 & 135, Buenos Ayres, where certificates and testimonials can be seen.
